Five-Cent Coins for the Pacific Coast

A money article in the San Francisco Bulletin of the 31st ultimo calls attention to the scarcity of half dimes and asks the California congressional delegation to have a law passed authorizing its coinage The minuteness of this coin caused it to be discontinued years ago, and it is practically out of circulation in the east the five-cent nickel having taken its place and answering all its purposes Senator Sargent noticing the complaint of this scarcity in San Francisco asked the secretary of the treasury yesterday if the government would send out a supply of nickel five cent pieces in case the local demand should be made for them Secretary Sherman in reply makes the following official statement The U S assistant treasurer at San Francisco has $21 000 in five-cent nickel coins About eight years ago $5 000 in bronze coins were sent to the California sub-treasury for the Bank of California which took them in exchange for notes, but being unable to get rid of them returned them to the assistant treasurer under the act authorizing their redemption and the sub-treasury now has of them in all $2 700 Additional amounts will be sent if necessary from Philadelphia where they are on hand to the amount of $800 000 The assistant treasurer at San Francisco will pay out any of these coins for greenbacks and the government will redeem them with greenbacks in sums of $20 or upwards so that their redundancy can be readily guarded against Sargent says it must be accepted as a fact that congress will not pass a bill to coin five-cent pieces for local convenience and that San Francisco must conform to the existing currency

ROBESON'S WRONG DOING

Specific Charges by a Congressional Committee of Mal-Administration of Naval Affairs

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Washington, Feb 10—Representative Whitthorne has been authorized to present to the house a report of the majority of the house naval committee in relation to the administration of the navy department under Secretary Robeson It says that during the eight years of Robeson's administration there disappeared from the navy register the names of [illegible]0 vessels of which five were lost at sea and 40 were sold and the proceeds paid into the treasury Three were sold and the proceeds paid over to contractor and 20 were destroyed by order of Robeson and the material cut up If this destroyed property which cost the government $150 000 000 is credited at only $50 000 000 we have an expenditure during the eight years of over $[illegible] 000 000 The property sold and disposed of would certainly yield a revenue of $5 000 000 to prudent private individuals but in fact the government received for it less than $2 000 000 Now subtracting from the annual appropriation for the navy the sums applied to its maintenance it is found that over $61 000 000 were applied to the construction equipment and armament This makes nearly $65 000 000 applied to construction a sum which if applied to building war vessels would have given the United States 70 new vessels like the Trenton one of the best in the navy, a number sufficient to have made the navy at once respectable and useful Inquiry is needed whether the laws enacted for the government of the naval service and protection of the government interests have been observed The committee say that they are constrained by the facts their sense of duty to the house and country to answer that these laws have not been observed or obeyed but on the contrary have been disregarded and violated A number of instances are declared to be violations of law amongst which are disregard of the lowest bidder, and that of equipping proposals to be accompanied by a written guarantee and sureties which the report states has been wholly ignored in over 500 cases After referring to violation of laws in contracts for rebuilding ships and prohibiting any department from exceeding appropriations, the report says that up to the close of Robeson's administration, the low prices having their effect on general business did not affect the navy department Contracts were made at prices which had prevailed in years before The report says that the greatest loss was perhaps in purchasing live oak timber It appears from the report of Lanthall and Isherwood that large quantities of inferior oak have been purchased and allowed

Rot from Exposure.

The committees especially refer to the report of Chief Engineer King in relation to the disposition of large quantities of material at several of the navy yards, resulting in large losses to the government The committee ask for the indebtedness of the navy at the time the investigation was made and find the unlawful sale and disposition of large amounts of property belonging to the government, and unlawful disposition of large sums of public money appropriated for the naval service Geo M Robeson, late secretary of the navy W W Wood, late chief of the bureau of steam engineering Isaiah Hanscom, chief of the bureau of construction and repairs and the chiefs of the bureaus of provisions and clothing from 1872 to March 1877 are chiefly responsible As to the late chief of the bureau of provisions and clothing Paymaster Watmough, it is said that being acting chief alone during the greater part of this time he felt bound without contrary instructions from the head of the department or real head of the bureau, Paymaster General Bradford, to pursue the policy of his said chief This being so would end greatly to relieve him The committee recommended that the conduct of Chief Engineers Stewart, Fithian and Henderson and Paymaster Russell be inquired into and the report concludes by declaring that it is the duty of the house to mark its condemnation of the illegal practices of these former officers of the navy department and to invite the attention of the executive department upon which rests the responsibility of further action in the premises

AN HONORABLE SHOWING

Letter from President Green of the W U T Company to the Potter Committee Showing the Conduct of the Company Relating to the Ciphers

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Washington, Feb 10—The [illegible] committee received the following letter

[illegible] the three branches of the house Accordingly I respectfully submit the following brief statement of facts [illegible] of congress asking that it be laid before your committee and [illegible] that a correct history of these transactions may appear but at the same time a simple act of justice be done hereby to the company which I have the honor to represent in the resulting vindication of its late and present administration from any charge of partisanship in the conduct of its business The plain truth is that the company recognized a great moral obligation to preserve sacred from a threatened exposure all telegrams committed to its confidence and keeping both before and after the service of the subpena as resorted to every legitimate and proper device consistent with a due respect for the authority of congress to prevent such exposure by a timely transfer of the messages from the custody of managers and officers likely to be called upon to produce them to the executive officers in New York and thence by a resolution of the executive committee of the board of directors from the custody of the executive officers to that of the executive committee itself When therefore Manager Barnes of the New Orleans office was subpenaed by the Morrison committee almost all of the telegrams he was called upon to produce had been taken from his custody and he had no power to produce them So also when the president was brought to the bar of the house for contempt he was enabled to plead that he had not the custody of the messages called for [illegible] the proceedings of the house of representatives as published in the Congressional Record show that Mr Orton himself on this occasion through the statement of his answer as to the alternative taken by the executive committee disclosed to the house all information as to where the messages could be reached But notwithstanding this fact no member of the house or of its committee saw fit, at the time to act upon the information thus given The senate committee however took the initiative and sending immediately to New York on the next day served every member of the company's executive committee with a sweeping subpena which demanded the production of all the messages to or from the principal offices of the company where any important political telegrams were supposed to have been sent or received Under this subpena the executive committee (composed about equally of members of the two political parties proceeded with the messages to Washington where soon after their arrival they were served with a like sweeping subpena from the house committee A meeting of the executive committee was then upon held, and by resolutions then passed it was decided to repeat the service on the company president and committee alike and to surrender to the house committee all the messages covered by its subpena to President Orton this being prior in time to the service of the subpena from the committee of the senate, and to surrender to the senate committee all the messages covered by its subpena, this last being prior in the time of its service to the subpena from the committee of the house. It was further resolved to comply as far as possible with the conflicting subpenas and that which ever failed to receive the original messages should have copies of all such originals as were delivered to the other committee or if it should be concluded that the immense labor of copying might be saved them that the committee of either house holding the original messages should agree that members of the committee of the other house which had called for them should have free access to examine such originals and to make copies therefrom if desired A copy of these resolutions of which the foregoing is the substance was served upon each committee on January 19th and on the [illegible]th of January Senator Sargent wrote to the company stating that the committee of the senate had conferred with the committee of the house and that the alternative or the latter feature of the above-mentioned arrangement was accepted as entirely satisfactory to both committees The surrender of the messages was then made but not until the company had urgently endeavored to impress upon the respective committees the necessity of guarding the telegrams from theft and from disclosure to others than those who from their position upon the committees were entitled to their inspection It will be seen that our course in these matters were strictly fair and impartial We were powerless to take further precautions in the premises and we are in no manner responsible for the subsequent loss of the telegrams furnished to the senate committee I have the honor to remain very respectfully yours

A CHARLIE ROSS MYSTERY CLEARED UP AFTER THE LAPSE OF A QUARTER OF A CENTURY

[Springfield (Mass) Union.]

A romance in real life stranger than any fiction has recently had its denouement one of the parties most interested being a resident of this city This is a widow lady whose name we are not at liberty to make public for the present who has recently discovered the whereabouts of a long lost daughter stolen from her twenty seven years ago when an infant The lady though a resident of Springfield for some years past is a native of Hartford county Connecticut and went with her husband after her marriage, to western New York, which was then a good deal of a wilderness as compared with its condition now Her first child, a girl, was born there and she was on her way to join her husband after a temporary separation, when the infant was stolen from her during a long stage journey and she has never seen the child since though as noted above she has recently discovered that she is alive and living in Wisconsin where she is married and has three children

The anguish of the mother at losing her first born can be conceived but not described A long fit of sickness followed and after her recovery all possible search was made for the missing babe but without success But the mother never gave up hope of hearing of her child and after twenty-seven years had elapsed her faith and patience have at last been rewarded It seems she always suspected a man who carried her some fifteen miles by private conveyance to meet the stage when on her way to join her husband of stealing the child with the intention of adopting it as his own She now knows that he was the abductor He gave it to an accomplice who took it some fifty miles across the border, into Pennsylvania where it was placed in a family with a sum of money sufficient to provide for its wants for some time His evident intention was to reclaim the child when he could do so without suspicion But the time never came when he dared do it and the little girl grew up as the adopted child of the family finally married the younger brother of the master of the house and removed to Wisconsin, where the family is prosperous and happy Communications have been established for some months now between the mother and daughter and photographs exchanged which would leave no doubt of the relationship if any had existed before They propose to have a meeting soon near the scene of their tragic parting more than a quarter of a century ago What a meeting it will be!

HERE WE ARE AGAIN

Salem, Oregon, Feb 10, 1879

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

[illegible] last week I was informed by an employee of the penitentiary that W[illegible] Galloway John H Miller and J M Thompson had been to the penitentiary and taken the affidavits of Osborne Westmont and Woods It will be remembered that [illegible] I was the only member of the committee present [illegible] have recalled Osborne to have him testify in order to make his testimony agree with the report they had already made out and published It will be seen by his first testimony that not one word was said about whisky The clerk of this committee stated to Gov Thayer, Judge Bonham and myself that no questions were asked Osborne about the whisky while he was giving his testimony This last testimony of Osborne's has been made up since the committee adjourned As to the testimony of Jackson and Osborne in regard to the barn their statements are false I bought the lumber for this barn of Samuel Bass who had a sawmill at the penitentiary belonging to himself for which R H Dearborn my partner at that time paid him for me $85 The barn was a common box wood building 16x20 feet no framing done on it except the four sills which consisted of four mortises and four tenons I have Mr Bass' bill which is receipted and reads for lumber and work done on barn eighty five dollars. I employed Mr McGrass a carpenter well known in Salem to build the barn for which I was to pay him $35 The money was paid to him by R H Dearborn my partner I have his bill receipted which reads for framing and work done on barn thirty [illegible] dollars What work was done on the barn at the prison I paid Mr Bass for Mr Bass paid the state for the labor of the convicts who did the work as the books of the prison will show As for Jackson's saying all the work I know nothing about it Mr Bass had prisoners leased from the state for a long period employed in the sawmill The books of Watkinds & Co will show that I was charged with the two amounts above mentioned namely, $85 and $35 I will take affidavits corroborating this statement for publication as soon as I can see the parties Now as to Osborne's testimony in regard to Collins paying nothing for clay that was thrown up and prepared for brick by convict labor He paid to the state either 30 or 35 cents per thousand brick made by him at the end of each quarter and I turned the money over to the treasurer The contract and bonds with Collins, showing this fact, are on file at the prison The same contract shows that he was to pay $2 a load for sand. This contract the committee could not help but see, as it is on file in the office. Compare this contract made by Mr Collins and myself signed by both of us in the presence of witnesses, together with the books showing the amount of money paid at the end of each quarter by Mr Collins for this clay with Osborne's testimony Comment is unnecessary This pitiful creature Osborne further says I bought several kegs of beer and dished it out to the prisoners This is false in every particular and I defy this creature to show where I ever purchased beer for prisoners He further says that I sealed up the books in a box at the prison This is equally as false as the balance of his testimony Every book, voucher, receipt, contract and lease and every paper of any kind that ever was in my possession was turned over to my successor, B F Burch and I hold his receipt for the same and none were sealed up in any box at the prison The books, vouchers papers, etc, were turned over to Mr Burch in the presence of J H Hackleman and Maj Lord of Salem As to his statement about the items of whisky and sand I read the affidavits of Dr A M Belt B F Holtsclaw Thompson Minto Palmer Collins and others heretofore published I shall leave Osborne, together with his testimony to the grand jury of Marion county at its next session

On the morning that my answer to the report of the committee was published in The Oregonian I received an anonymous blackmailing and threatening letter in the handwriting of Mr Galloway dated at Salem mailed at another postoffice than Salem threatening me that if I did not desist from further comments on the committee's report he would fix me forever." I have shown that letter together with letters with Galloway's name to them, to a number of experts and they all say it is Galloway's handwriting The legislature at its last session passed a law to punish such offenders and instructed the judges of the several circuits to read the section referred to to each grand jury and if the grand jury does its duty it will indict these men for the crimes they have been guilty of and if justice is done they will serve the state in a different capacity from what they are now doing, namely manufacturing brick, collars, etc, as criminals

ADMIRABLE FLEXIBILITY

For several years the Democratic party in many states has been somewhat distracted by certain financial follies which have found advocates within its ranks And in general Democrats of the east and west have stood hopelessly apart on the questions of resumption paper currency payment of the national debt and modes of taxation In national conventions of the party eastern ideas have usually triumphed On these occasions the party could not afford to surrender itself to the guidance of noisy lunatics and so except in 1868 in its national conventions it escaped what is known as the greenback folly But when it came to state platforms the Democratic party adopted in all the states west of Pennsylvania the platform of an irredeemable currency and only last year was demanding that the resumption act be repealed Some have been looking forward to 1880 in the expectation that the party would split on this question and there are Republicans who anticipate an easy victory over opponents thus divided But they are mistaken in the supposition that such division is likely to occur By 1880 the currency question will assume a new phase in the Democratic mind It is probable indeed it may be regarded as certain that the Democratic party will then come out on the hardest kind of a hard money platform and declare that it has been right there all the time Even in Ohio and Indiana it will go straight back from the fiat doctrine and point with pride to its ancient record as a party in favor of hard money As for the south it has no opinions on finance as a prominent southerner at Washington recently said which it will not surrender for the sake of success

We are opposed to the continued national banks and desire to re establish state banks Admitting that this platform would lose us New York and New Jersey we could afford that if we could carry Ohio Indiana and Illinois The western states are as much opposed to the national banking system as we of the south Our people in Ohio will make an anti national bank platform in their state convention this year If we win there the presidential election next year is as good as ours, for we shall put the same ideas into the national platform If we lose we have a year ahead to perfect new arrangements If our anti bank crusade fails in the west we shall become the hardest of hard money men form alliances with the eastern democracy and make a strike for New York and New Jersey As for the south it is solid and will remain so under all conditions It cannot be doubted that in this outline the course of the Democratic party for the next contest is very truthfully sketched. In order to satisfy the worshippers of the paper money idea the fight this year will be made against the national banks. It will take the form of a demand that the national bank circulation shall be withdrawn, and an equal amount of treasury notes issued to take its place. Then would follow the restoration of the old system of state banks. But on the full discussion that would follow the announcement of this policy the party would certainly be defeated, and this result would prepare the way for adoption of the opposite course by the party for the greater contest of the next year A party is fortunate, indeed, when it has resources so varied, and can so easily accommodate itself to any doctrine which offers most assurance of success. In all this there is a flexibility that is admirable and who ever suggests that there is in it a want of consistency may be answered that there is in it the highest consistency with the main purpose in view which is simply to achieve success regardless of means and methods, and still less of promises and professions

INDIAN RESERVATIONS.

"Either the Indian must assimilate with our civilization or be exterminated." This is the dictum of a prominent eastern journal In few words it expresses the whole case But it is only recently that this fact seems to have become well understood. Government, however, appears to comprehend it, hence the exertions it is making to bring the Indians under the rule of law and of labor which is higher law There is no longer any unoccupied country into which the Indian can be pushed to be out of the way of the whites. Henceforward his destiny must be worked out in connection with the white race. The food which nature formerly provided and on which he always subsisted is gone He must now get his food by his own labor In other words he must cease to be an Indian He can no longer be allowed to range at will over the country Even the reservation system, as now organized should be broken up as soon as possible, and the lands given to the Indians to hold in severalty and till on their own account. Continuation of the reservation system will only perpetuate their dependence Like all other persons, they should be shown as quickly as possible that they must take care of themselves and that it is not the business or duty of government to take care of them Under the reservation system they will be kept always in a state of childhood and pupilage, and therefore will not develop that robust independence which is necessary to progress Hence though the reservation be a necessity as a beginning, it should be abandoned as soon as possible The recent report of the joint committee of the two branches of congress on this subject in which this view is substantially urged embodies more good suggestions than we have ever before seen from any official source In accord with the report of the committee provision ought to be made that small tribes and parts of tribes unless they take their lands in severalty, shall be removed to large reservations This would do away with many annoyances arising from numerous reservations held by small bands and used for no purpose whatever Such a policy could be adopted in these cases as would greatly simplify the whole problem The Indian thus established on lands of his own will soon lose his destructive Indian character a result which is absolutely necessary to any settlement of the long pending Indian question

Unless congress shall pass a special appropriation to meet it the new pension act will be inoperative It is hinted now that southern members are averse to such appropriation They joined in passing the bill to help the northern Democratic allies among the soldier element but hoped and believed the president would veto it But he didn't and now since the south is not likely to get the bill to pension Mexican soldiers or to restore to the pension rolls those who were stricken off on account of disloyalty during the rebellion and since hardly a dollar of the millions that are to be disbursed under the act just passed will go to the south there is disinclination on the part of southern members to vote the appropriation They state freely that [illegible] representation this passage by the house would help northern Democrats at the next election and that the bill would never become a law because it would be amended in the senate and be allowed to die while the two houses were fighting over it But the scheme went sadly awry and a lot of politicians were hoist with their own petard

The Virginia legislature has refused by a very decided majority to repeal the whipping post law taking the ground that a great saving of expense has accrued and there has been a notable decrease of petty thefts A similar law is just what is wanted in Oregon It will cure a class of offenders who commit petty crimes in order that they may be kept at the public expense Imprisonment they don't care for they will go into lazy cells on one poor meal a day rather than work and can be brought to time only by the lash It will be asserted perhaps that Virginia in enforcing this penalty is tending toward barbarism But she is showing more sense and less squeamishness than other states

John Russell Young who travels with Gen Grant for the New York Herald is the man who writes all those remarkable letters concerning what Grant sees where he goes and whom he meets and these details he interlards copiously with sayings put into the mouth of his hero on all kinds of topics All the letters are read to General Grant and subjected to revision before they see the light They are then introduced to the public through the columns of the Herald like certain bills and petitions in congress by request

It is claimed by Grover or in behalf of Grover that he knew nothing whatever about the Chadwick Cann Walker transaction He was president of the board but Chadwick and Cann were the parties to the job which was done without his knowledge And Chadwick in turn says he had no hand in Grover's West Portland Homestead transaction Grover did it all himself It is evident that board was managed in a peculiar way Each member took his turn at it when he had a speculation on hand

Sunday sleepers got a very neat thrust from Prof Swing an independent preacher of Chicago a couple of Sundays ago "It will never be the duty of a public speaker said the professor to keep everybody awake He need keep awake only those whose wakefulness will ever be of any value to themselves or mankind There spoke the voice of retaliation" And properly too But some slept even when Paul preached

It is a serious mistake says the Philadelphia Record in an article on our school system, to frame the entire scheme of instruction on the erroneous hypothesis that all children are candidates for academic honors when the facts show that not more than twelve pupils in a thousand ever reach the high school

Appropriate metaphor is one of the graces of style When the New York World describes Montgomery Blair as "that battered fifth wheel of a dozen disused political coaches," the expression is better than a whole descriptive essay

POSSIBILITIES

McKENZIE BRIDGE Ogn Jan 30 1879

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Your observations on potatoes touch a responsive chord. Every sentence is golden and applicable to other productions and to other localities than Portland Independence, the surest product of any soil is easy of cultivation could men only see its worth The inalienable rights of man was but a slender shoot when transported in the Mayflower and transplanted on American soil by the men and women who sought liberty of conscience as the thing of greatest value It took a new lease of life when the colonies declared themselves free and independent states, and its vitality was scarcely checked by the shock which opposed the realization of Jefferson's ideal, the Declaration of Independence Specie resumption has furnished the last argument necessary in proof that our civil war was a success Even Mormonism despite its debasing central idea had enough of the spice of independence to make its Utah colony one of the most successful in history Now if the time has come for men to declare their independence of towns and maintain it —to exchange the concrete for the abstract—the great northwest is ready for it.

In your article you strike the key to the solution of the labor question Labor is only respectable in the degree that it is respected by the person who labors Every successful lawyer or physician in Portland is a laborer and any man who buys his independence with potatoes grown from American soil, has taken his labor to an excellent market and as a citizen is the peer of his professional neighbor Capitalists will fraternize and centralize so long as laborers will Kearneyize and try to force them to buy labor they do not want But turn that labor into wheat, wool or pork, and it will find capital its friend

Such observations are well calculated to give encouragement to the strangers who may be sojourning with us for their victum of precarious ventures such as mining and farming in our neighboring states, California and Nevada, where life is more on the high pressure principle does not at his first view of Oregon see millions in it" He has perhaps, lost the earnings of years and consequence friends his spirits are at ebb tide, and he is halting between two opinions,—wasting precious time The fortunate donee whose broad acres give him undue importance, is not always the man to apply to for encouragement he must find and locate on government land remote from the larger cities and there make his start The ice once fairly broken, he will soon forget the chafing of his new surroundings, together with his losses and fair weather friends and again look forward He is likely to succeed but if he does not, he has done the next thing to it tried, A man in adversity is too apt to look at his case as exceptional, and his efforts useless when he should feel that in seeking an honorable independence he is engaged in a work different only in degree from that done by the Pilgrims in New England Washington at Valley Forge Grant before Petersburg or what John Sherman has done for resumption

With broad mountains and narrow valleys Oregon is not free from drawbacks but neither was its European analogue Switzerland and yet it has been called the cradle of liberty and a country may produce many things of less value than freemen But the wealth of our mountains is undeveloped except in the sublimity of their outlines their hidden treasures have not been searched for and ours is a land yet rich in its possibilities

P C RENFLLW

The State of Dakota

[From the Chicago Tribune

It is now pretty certain that the thirty ninth state in the union will be named Dakota and embrace the territory lying just north of Nebraska and west of Minnesota The bill introduced into the senate by Mr [illegible] to enable the people of that territory to organize a state government is not at all premature There are already 100 000 people within the limits defined and [illegible] 100 000 before the necessary preliminaries for admission into the union can be completed The area of this state is twice as large as that of Illinois and it for us the last of the tier of territories admitted into the union

The Elder Booth's Memory

Cor a Logan

The elder Booth had a prodigious memory Upon one occasion [illegible] a wager was laid as to his memory capacity Booth wearied after a performance of Pescara in the Apostate read carefully a poem of some eight or ten stanzas the name of which I have forgotten—in the presence of some four or five friends at his home Then handing the book to one of the party he recited it verse after verse [illegible] that he must have been long conversant with it He had never seen the poem before To satisfy them he read another of their own selection with the same result

THE BLACK DEATH

ANTIDOTE TO THE DISEASE—HOW IT IS ENGENDERED AND DISSEMINATED—ITS ORIGIN AND PROGRESS

[From the Cincinnati Commercial

The disease now ravaging the district of Astrakhan is the black death which for ages had its home in Egypt Syria, Greece Turkey and the adjoining provinces of Russia to which countries it is now chiefly limited The people in the first infected districts are dying the reports state like flies So rapidly has the disease spread that fully ten per cent of the newly infected districts have perished No one dares touch the dead and they lie unburied in the streets In the commencement of the disease there is a feeling of weariness and fatigue shivering nausea and sickness confusion of ideas giddiness and pain in the loins These are quickly followed by increased stupor and delirium by pallor and flushing of the face and a feeling of intense binding, or constriction about the heart Darting pains are felt in the groin arm pits and other parts of the body The lymphatic glands become enlarged and carbuncles appear The tongue becomes dry and brown and the gums teeth and lips are covered with a dark fur The will loses its control over the muscles About the second and third day livid spots and stripe appear upon the skin In fatal cases—and most are fatal the pulse gradually sinks the surface becomes cold and clammy blood oozes from the mucous surfaces and there is either coma or delirium The victim usually lingers five or six days, and may pass away without a struggle or a convulsion It is said that infected persons might visit every country in Europe before the symptoms were recognized and in this way

ENDANGER THE WHOLE WORLD

The plague may be spontaneously engendered by endemic or epidemic influences it may originate from local causes and may be propagated by peculiar contagion Temperature seems to exert a very great influence over it In tropical climates it is not known and it does not long withstand the cold of northern climates Its peculiar harvest time in Europe is late in the summer and early in the fall especially in September Like the germs of yellow fever it has thus far evaded the examinations of chemists and microscopists As soon as absorbed it alters the composition of the blood and the condition of the tissues There is no universal cure for it. In occasional instances fresh air may be of benefit Cleanliness is generally a preventive and it is due to this and superior ventilation that foreigners in the Levant are comparatively exempt In 1333 so Chinese historians tell us, there were great convulsions in nature and earthquakes and floods which were followed by drouths and famines Hills and lakes disappeared and the gases rising from the earth and decaying vegetation and animals rendered the air excessively impure Following these convulsions came the great plague and before it entered Europe 13 000 000 people in China and 23 000 000 people in Western Asia and Northern Africa had died It appeared in Russia near

WHERE IT NOW PREVAILS

In 1348 Constantinople was attacked, and from there it spread over all Turkey The disease was carried to Italy and from thence to France England Germany and the Low Countries From England it was conveyed to Sweden and passed over the Baltic Sea into Northern Russia In only three years it covered the whole of Europe Half the population of Italy died of it Fifteen continental cities lost 300 000 inhabitants London 100,000 and in Europe 25 000 000 people perished The terrible disease was attributed by the superstitious to the Jews, who were accused of poisoning the wells so that the water would breed pestilence Entire colonies of Jews were massacred and thousands were so terrified that they took their own lives. The disease was extensively spread by numerous bands of religious zealots who visited town after town torturing their bodies in the vain hope of expiating the sins of the people These Flagellants as they were called comprised both men and women who went about nearly naked and each one wore a red cross upon the breast The church reaped a rich harvest for many of its frightened subjects gave to it their all Donors were obliged to throw their gifts over the walls, for the monks were afraid to come in contact with them and shut the gates Multitudes sought to escape the disease by living in caves and woods and starved Some endeavored to escape by the sea They died and the sailors who picked up their boats shared the same fate Rotted bodies floated down the streams polluting them and filling the air with contagion Some of the delirious victims ran through the streets of villages tearing out the hair and scratching the faces of every one they met The plague of 1603 1664 and 1665 the last that prevailed very extensively produced fewer deaths In 1720 Marseilles was almost depopulated and in 1799 Turkey Poland and Russia were again visited From all reports, the present plague promises to destroy as many lives as those of former years

CITY.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE ASSOCIATION. — To-day the Oregon State Woman Suffrage Association will meet in seventh annual convention in this city and continue in session two or more days. Mrs. A. J. Duniway is president and H. A. Loughary vice president of the association. Morning session at 10½ and afternoon session at 2½ o'clock will be held at the office of Dr. Agnes Burr, in the Y. M. C. A. building, evening session at Masonic temple, commencing at 7½. F. O. McCown, Esq., will deliver an address this evening upon "Women and the Law," to be followed by Mrs. H. A. Loughary. Subject, "Rights under the Constitution." Vocal and instrumental music will be a leading feature of the meetings. A general good time is anticipated. Everybody invited. Admission free.

AN INTOLERABLE NUISANCE. — The habit which some people have who attend the theater of conversing during the time the play is in progress is certainly a very reprehensible one. It is an abominable nuisance and should be suppressed. Those who pay to witness the play are entitled to some exemption from such an annoyance. To be constantly talking during the play is not only a mark of ill-breeding, but is a source of great annoyance to those who desire to hear what the actors say. If persons must talk, why let them go out and "hire a hall," where their conversation will not interfere with the rights of others.

FROM ASTORIA.—A dispatch from Astoria from Messrs. Trenchard & Upshur yesterday at 9.45 A. M., says: Wind light from the southwest, brig Orient arrived at Knappton at 9:30 A. M.; Corwin left for sea at 9 A. M.; Idaho left for sea at 9.15 A. M.; weather cloudy and rainy. A dispatch at 10:30 A. M. says Bktn Webfoot is coming in over the bar, will arrive at Knappton at 11 A. M.; wind light from the west; Willamette Chief arrived with load for City of York this morning; Idaho and Corwin crossed out.

BILLIARD TOURNAMENT.—At noon yesterday the entries for the forthcoming billiard tournament closed. The following players are booked to participate in the contest for the championship of the northwest: Nat Lane of East Portland, Joseph Chartes of Albany, Wm. Rich, Henry Prang and Josh Davis of this city. The tournament commences on the 15th inst. at the Palace billiard rooms and will continue three or four days.

PHILOMATHEAN LECTURE.—On Friday evening next at 8 o'clock the second lecture of the Philomathean course will be delivered in Masonic Hall by Rev. M. May, whose subject will be "The minds of the Talmud." His being a Rabbi of the Jewish church in this city will lend weight to his words, giving him unusual opportunities for study and research in Jewish doctrines.

SEIZED WITH A FIT.—About one o'clock yesterday a man named Cramore, who is employed in the land department of the O. & C. R. R. Company, while walking along First street near Morrison was suddenly seized with an epileptic fit. Cramore fell to the sidewalk helpless. A crowd immediately collected and a physician was summoned. The man was placed in a carriage and conveyed to his home.

THE WEATHER.—The usually affable clerk of the weather has concluded to give us a little touch of real March's bleakness. With scarcely an intermission a cold rain descended yesterday, and overcoats, rubber shoes and umbrellas were in active demand. Last evening at an early hour the rain changed to snow which continued to fall until the ground was whitened.

TESTIMONY MEETING. — The "testimony meeting," which was held in the Baptist church last night after the sermon, was decidedly interesting and profitable. A similar service will be held to-night after a short sermon by Rev. J. A. Cruzan. The interest in these meetings shows no signs of diminution.

S. S. GREAT REPUBLIC.—Col. J. R. Farish has received a private dispatch from San Francisco which states that the steamship Great Republic is loading there for Portland. However, the date of her sailing has not been announced. It is thought that the steamer will sail about next Saturday.

NEW MARKET THEATER.

THE OPENING OF THE SPRING DRAMATIC SEASON—MISS ANNIE ADAMS AND LITTLE MAUD—A CELEBRATED CASE.

Despite the inclemency of the weather from the severe rain storm which has been prevailing for the past five days, a very large and enthusiastic audience assembled last evening at the New Market Theater, the occasion being a triple event—the opening of the spring dramatic season, the first appearance of Miss A. Adams and Little Maud, and the first presentation of the play entitled "A Celebrated Case." Mons. D'Ennery, who has acquired a world-wide reputation as a dramatic author, he being the author of the "Two Orphans," "Woman of the People" and others, may be said to have eclipsed his former brilliant efforts in the construction of the "Celebrated Case." No piece ever presented in this city can compare in the slightest degree with this powerful drama, and the wonderful fertility of its popular author's pen is most satisfactorily proven in its construction. In most plays the incessant change of characters would naturally tend to confusion, and the closest attention would be necessary to follow the story. But this difficulty is surmounted in the "Celebrated Case," as each character is so realistic, blends so harmoniously with the other, the incidents are of so thrilling a nature, and the dialogue so brilliant and fascinating that the auditor is entranced and spell bound from beginning to close, and, for the time being, is oblivious to everything else. "A Celebrated Case" is like all this great author's plays, made up of a series of chapters of thrilling incidents. The dark side of life is presented to the audience, beginning with the murder of "Madeline," Miss Lottie Wade, the beautiful and loving wife of "Jean Renaud," Mr. Lindsey, in the first act of the prologue, continuing with the terrible picture of a father convicted of the murder by evidence from the lisping lips of his own five-year old daughter, Adrienne—Little Maud, and proceeding through four acts of the drama proper, with a series of heart-rending incidents, which all tend, however, eventually to clear the condemned man, restore him to the arms of his child, and convict the real author of the horrible crime which is perpetrated in the prologue. This play has been truly termed a master-piece of art, and a criticism in accordance with its full merits would occupy far greater space than is allotted to us. In the prologue the child actress—for so we must call her, as she is a natural born actress—Little Maud, made her first appearance before a Portland audience. Her acting was simply sublime, and received the hearty and enthusiastic applause of the large and intelligent audience. Her intense emotion left few dry eyes among the spectators. Miss Annie Adams appeared in the play proper and assumed the character of "Adrienne." This lady is a most intensely emotional actress. Her every motion in the ordeal through which she passes is suggestive of some mysterious phase of grief. She wrings the hearts of her audience like so many slender twigs. Her intense acting is so refreshing that one almost forgets that she is acting. She is realistic without being commonplace; she is imaginative without being unlifelike; she can give expression to passion without tearing it to tatters. We feel assured in predicting that Miss Adams will be joyfully welcomed by the theater-going public of this city. The stock company lent excellent support. Miss Georgie Woodthorpe, as "Valentine," looked charming, dressed elegantly, and acted with great force—far beyond our anticipation of her powers. The struggle through which she passed when love for her friend, pity for that friend's father, and filial devotion to the man whom she believed to be her own father, was so painfully real that the audience was fairly startled by its awful intensity. The character of "Jean Renaud," the hero of all the misery, was admirably sustained by Mr. J. L. Lindsay. In the interview with and recognition of his daughter he was especially powerful, and many a tear fell unbidden at the picture of his sore distress. Miss Lottie Wade appeared in the prologue as "Madeline," and rendered it in her usual excellent manner. Messrs. Ward, Leman and Sutherland were admirable in their respective roles. The costumes and stage settings were superb, and we must say the spring season opened most successfully. The same play will be produced to-night, and we predict the house will be even more crowded than it was last night. It is a chapter of thrilling incidents, as has been said, but a chapter read with such consummate art that it possesses a terrible fascination and appeals with an irresistible power to every human heart.

REPREHENSIBLE.

A sample of that class of men who bring reproach upon the real working men of this city was walking up Third street on Saturday evening, in a partially inebriated condition. Near the Presbyterian church he came upon an old Chinaman who was sawing wood near the sidewalk. The thought that the Mongolian was "taking the bread out of his mouth" at once came into his mind. He stopped and began to abuse the Chinaman in language too vile for publication, telling him he had no business to be sawing that wood, and he shouldn't saw it, etc. Advancing toward the Chinaman the latter retreated into the street, but soon returned to his work, when the fellow picked up a large stick and was apparently about to commit an assault upon the inoffending Chinaman, when two or three men being discovered watching him, he desisted. Had it not been for the presence of these men he would doubtless have driven the Chinaman from his work or beaten him badly. Such conduct receives the disapprobation of every true working man, and he who would commit such acts, can find no place in their ranks, or sympathy in their hearts. They propose to protect their rights against the encroachments of low priced heathen labor, but not by such methods as the act noticed above.

McMINNVILLE AND THE RAILROAD.

The Yamhill Reporter is confident the west side road will be extended through McMinnville. It says:

The object of Mr. Koehler's visit to this place last week was to submit a proposition to the people of McMinnville relative to the building of the west side road through this place on its extension up the valley. His proposition was this: That the citizens of this town and vicinity secure and donate to the company the right of way from St. Joseph to a point somewhere in the neighborhood of W. J. Garrison's farm, about half way between this place and Amity; and also donate to them a strip of ground about 200x400 feet in dimensions for depot grounds in the town of McMinnville. To take action in regard to this proposition a meeting was called at Mohawk hall at one o'clock yesterday. The hall was filled with an enthusiastic audience, among whom were the representative men of the town and vicinity, and who proceeded to business by selecting Hon. H. Warren for President, and L. A. Newby, Esq., as secretary of the meeting. Discussions and a general conference followed, which developed the information that the claims for damages by different parties along the line and in this place amounted to about $4000. Some of these claims were considered by the assembly as exorbitant, and after some further discussion a committee was selected to consult with the parties claiming damages, with the object of persuading them to modify their claims, to examine into the matter of damages themselves, and report the result of their labors at a meeting to be held on Wednesday next, the 12th inst., at Mohawk hall. A subscription paper was passed around and about $1150 subscribed to pay on damages, and a committee was appointed to circulate the paper throughout the community for further contributions. The amount already raised will be largely swelled in a few days, and the sum necessary to secure the road will, we are confident, be obtained with little or no difficulty.

GOOD ADVICE.

During this cold, dreary weather, the air we breathe is impregnated with a malaria which is certain to effect the liver, stomach and bowels, causing them to become inactive, torpid and sluggish, accompanied with catarrh, cold and coughing. You become billious, suffer from headache, cold sensation and a general feeling of dispondency predominates throughout the entire system.

It is then you require the services of the great regulator, PFUNDER'S OREGON BLOOD PURIFIER, to stimulate the action of the liver and kidneys, remove catarrh and coughing, warm up the blood, clear the stomach of bile, and set all things to rights again. Try it. For sale everywhere.

WASHINGTON BIBLE SOCIETY.

The annual business meeting of the Washington Territory Bible society, auxiliary to the American Bible society, was held, according to previous notice, in the Methodist church at Olympia on Saturday evening, February 1st. The meeting was called to order by the president, Rev. J. R. Thompson, and opened with prayer. The reports of the secretary, treasurer and depository were read by the acting secretary, R. S. Greene, and showed a good state of affairs, financially, as well as efficient work during the year, with a fair stock of books for future operations. The total income from all sources amounted to $401.93. Total expenditure $293.25, leaving a balance in the treasury of $108.68. To this sum was added the subscriptions of Judge R. S. Greene and Rev. J. R. Thompson, five dollars each, and other collections at the anniversary meeting on Sunday evening, amounting in all to $35 contributed to the funds of the society in Olympia. Of this total amount $143 was ordered to be paid over to the American Bible society, to be placed to the credit of the Washington Territory Bible society until a further supply of books are demanded. There were on hand at the beginning of last year, and subsequently received, books to the value of $1198.84. This stock has been reduced by sales, distribution to local auxiliary societies and donations to the value of $642.29.

It was resolved that the name of "Washington Territory" be erased wherever it occurs in the constitution and that the name Western Washington be substituted therefor, and that this society be henceforth known as the Western Washington Bible Society, having for its field of work only that portion of Washington Territory which lies west of the Cascade range of mountains. This resolution was rendered proper by the fact that the eastern portion of our Territory can be best, and actually is, supplied with books from Portland, Oregon. It was, therefore, deemed proper that the name of this Society should not be any larger than its work.

The committee on nominations reported, recommending the following officers for the ensuing: President, Rev. Wm. Roberts; Vice Presidents, all pastors of Evangelical churches in Western Washington; Secretary, Rev. J. R. Thompson; Treasurer, W. H. Mitchell; other members of the executive committee, Gen. R. H. Milroy, William Wright and M. E. Hartsuck. The anniversary meeting of the Society was held on Sunday evening, in the M. E. Church, and consisted of the usual exercises. The retiring President, Rev. J. R. Thompson, occupied the chair. Able addresses were delivered to a crowded and intelligent audience, by Revs. D. W. Maelle, D. Thomas and H. P. Hetzie.

A letter from Sublimity to THE OREGONIAN says: The cold weather has retarded the work on the farms in the Waldo hills, so it will be impossible to get as large an acreage sown as was contemplated; yet, as there was more fall grain sown than there ever was before, you may look for a large surplus from these hills. Fall sown grain looks well. Never in the history of these hills was pasture so scarce. Some stock dying, mostly sheep, and nearly all stock is poor. When will our farmers learn to provide?

I. E. The Reveille of Polk county says: "Never have the prospects of an abundant crop been better than they are at present. The winter has been very mild and open, and a much larger area of ground has been sown to fall wheat than in any previous year within our history. Not only does the fall sown grain look well, not being in any way injured by the freezing weather of the winter, but our farmers are still engaged in plowing and sowing, thus making their spring's work very light, and laying the foundation for a bountiful harvest. Not only have our farmers sown large quantities of wheat, but a very large acreage has been sown to fall oats; and they are flourishing equally well with the wheat."

The Seattle Intelligencer wants the law changed so that vessels cannot dump ballast into the bays of the Sound excepting where the water is over fifty fathoms deep. The present law permits discharges to be made in twenty fathoms of water.

THE NATIONAL SCOURGE.

It is estimated that the annual damages caused by the ravages of insects and worms exceed $150,000,000 in the United States alone. Truly an enormous loss! Yet it sinks into insignificance when compared with the ravages of that more terrible scourge, Consumption, which annually sweeps hundreds of thousands of human souls into eternity. The causes of consumption are various, depending in every instance for the development of the disease upon the scrofulous diathesis, or temperament, of the victim. Thus the same cause which will produce in one person an attack of acute disease or a slight nervous prostration, will engender consumption in a person of scrofulous habit. That consumption can be cured by proper treatment will be readily perceived when the exact nature of the disease is understood, viz: the accumulation and deposition of scrofulous (tubercles) in the lungs. Obviously, the principal remedies required are (1) a powerful alterative, or blood-purifier, to arrest the accumulations and also cleanse the blood of the scrofulous matter, and (2) a mild cathartic to expel the diseased matter from the system. This course of treatment, in conjunction with a strict hygienic regime, has proved the most successful method of curing this disease. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets are the best alterative and cathartic remedies before the public, and have been alone used in thousands of cases of consumption with the most marked efficacy. Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, at Buffalo, N.Y., affords special and unequaled advantages to consumptives, not only possessing the best medical and hygienic means of treatment, but having the essential advantage of being situated in a climate where the inhabitants are notably free from this disease.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN.

His Wonderful Success

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

Chronic and Difficult Diseases.

He has astonished the People of this Coast by his skillful Operations.

HE HAS TAUGHT IN HIS public and private lectures the true principles of health and life to both male and female. He has also warned them against habits that would be likely to produce disease, in plain and comprehensive language. But where he has found them crushed and broken down by disease, mentally and physically, he has restored them to health and happiness, for it is well understood that without health there can be no happiness.

DR. BRENAN has made a specialty in the treatment of the following diseases: Catarrh, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the throat and chest, by an entirely new system only known to himself. Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs, including Spermatorrhea, Seminal Weakness or premature loss of Manhood. In the treatment of these diseases he has made a world wide reputation by his astonishing success, not only on this Coast but throughout the whole United States. Diseases of the stomach, bowels, liver and kidneys as well as all diseases of the blood and skin he has become master of, and never fails to give relief at once, and permanently cures the case if he is applied to in time.

THE DOCTOR HAS GIVEN SPECIAL LECTURES to ladies only for years and is perfectly familiar with all female complaints, and understands their delicate and refined organization, as well as the proper remedies which should be used to allay their suffering and restore them to perfect health.

THE DOCTOR HAS THE ADVANTAGE over most physicians—he can tell the patients' disease the moment he comes in contact with them without any aid from the individual. This accounts in part for his great professional success. All surgical operations can be performed by his skillful hand, and the patient need not fear the result.

DR. BRENAN will send to those living at a distance and who can not well visit his office a list of Printed Questions and by the answers when filled out he can tell the disease as well as the proper treatment almost as well as seeing the patient personally, and will forward the proper medicines, or instruments, to any part of the country with full instructions and advice. Each letter requiring advice or list of questions, must contain two postage stamps. Everything strictly confidential and honorable.

THE DOCTOR has studied in the best Medical Schools in Europe and three years in the Jefferson Medical College at Philadelphia, as more than one of the Medical men of the Medical Faculty in this State can testify.

CAUTION. Persons coming to Portland requiring medical treatment of the proper kind who desire to consult with me, will please beware of persons who may try to coax them away to other so-called Doctors, through pretended friendship for the patients. Look out for them; they are knaves, prompted by selfish motives and what they can make. Be sure and ask for DR. PAUL M. BRENAN, the Medical Lecturer, and read his sign on his door. Office, 63 First street, over McCormick's Franklin Bookstore.

DECISION IN THE U S CIRCUIT COURT DEADY J

U S Circuit Court—District of Oregon

MONDAY February 10 1879

Ruth A Semple and Eugene Semple vs The Bank of British Columbia—No 410—Action for use and occupation

(1) FORMER ADJUDICATION — The judgment or order of a court is not an estoppel unless the matter decided was within the purview of the proceeding before the court and directly within the issue made and tried therein

(2.) ACTION FOR RENTS AND PROFITS —In action for mesne profits the amount expended by the defendant while in the occupation of the premises for necessary repairs and legal taxes ought to be deducted from the gross rents or value thereof and the balance is the damage which the plaintiff has sustained and which he is entitled to recover.

DEADY J

This action is brought to recover the sum of $1 400 for the use and occupation of lots 2 and 3 in Park block No 1 in the city of Portland The complaint alleges that the defendant is a foreign corporation doing business in Portland and that the plaintiffs are husband and wife and citizens of Oregon that the defendant on July 18 1874 entered into the possession of the premises and received the rents and profits of the west half of said lot 3 until May 1 1878 and of the remainder of said premises until the commencement of this action—May 11 1878 that during all said period the plaintiff Ruth A Semple was and now is the owner in fee in her separate right of said premises and that the reasonable value of said rents and profits during the period aforesaid is $106 per month

The answer of the defendant filed January 1 1879 denies the ownership of Ruth A Semple admits the possession of the premises by the defendant as alleged denies that they were worth $100 per month but admits that the defendant received rents from the premises during the period aforesaid of the value of $4 297 57 and alleges that it expended thereon during the same period for necessary repairs $1 019 85—paid taxes duly assessed thereon $674 48 and for insurance against loss by fire $530 50—$2 224 83 which being set off against the rent leaves a balance of $2 042 74

The answer also contains a plea of a former adjudication to the effect that on July 8 1878, the circuit court for the county of Multnomah, in "a bill or suit and proceeding in equity then depending therein between the same parties, duly made a decree whereby the whole matter and thing in litigation here was finally determined, and that the same is still in full force and effect

The plaintiffs by their reply specially deny the affirmative allegations of the answer including the defense of a former adjudication

The "proceeding" referred to in the plea of a former adjudication arose in this way

On June 27, 1873, the plaintiff, Eugene Semple, made and delivered his promissory note to the defendant in the sum of $9 500 payable on or before January 1 1874 with interest at 1 per cent. per month and on the same day said Semple and the plaintiff, Ruth A Semple, executed a mortgage of the premises to the defendant as security for the payment of said note, that on March 10, 1874 suit was brought in the circuit court aforesaid to enforce the lien of said mortgage, which resulted, on June 17 1874, in a decree against said Eugene upon said note for the sum of $10 228 with interest as above from said date, and that the premises which were admitted and declared to be the separate property of Ruth A should be sold as upon execution to satisfy the same with the costs and expenses of suit, that upon July 18, 1874, said premises were sold to the defendant in pursuance of said decree which sale was confirmed on August 3 1874, and a conveyance thereof made to the defendant by the sheriff on May 20, 1875 that afterwards on May 1, 1878, the defendant filed a motion in said circuit court, based upon the proceedings in said suit and an affidavit of Mr. W W Francis, its manager, asking the court "to set aside the return of the execution issued upon the decree in said suit and all subsequent proceedings thereon had and for leave to issue a new execution upon the said decree," or for such other relief as the court might think proper to grant.

The affidavit of said manager gave the outline of the proceedings in said suit as above and then stated that the defendant "took possession of said property under said sale and conveyance" and still retains the same, that in 1877 said Ruth A commenced an action in the circuit court of the United States for this district, against the defendant for the recovery of the possession of the west half of said lot 3, claiming to be the owner thereof in fee, upon the grounds that the sheriff who executed the conveyance thereof to the defendant, not being the sheriff who made the sale, was without authority, and, also, that the defendant being a foreign corporation and not having appointed an attorney in the state to accept service of process against it, as provided by the statute of the state, was not authorized to make said purchase or receive said conveyance and that said circuit court upon the trial of said cause without a jury found said purchase and conveyance to be a nullity that said decision in effect decides that the defendant has no title to any part of said premises whereby the defendant obtained no satisfaction of said decree and that the rental value of said premises is less per month than the interest upon said decree

Notice was given of the motion, and after hearing the parties the court on June 11, 1878, set aside the entry of satisfaction on the lien docket, the return on the execution, and authorized an alias execution to issue to enforce the decree and sell the premises to satisfy the same. The order further provided—and it appearing that the defendant "hath for some time been holding and using the property," it is further ordered that it do bring into court the whole amount of rent money taken by it from said property" to abide the future order of the court, and leave was given to the plaintiffs within 10 days to file affidavits or make further defense to the proceeding The plaintiffs made no defense—that is filed no allegations or affidavits, but on July 8 1878, the court made an order stating therein that the defendant was in possession of the premises as mortgagee of the plaintiffs and should account to them accordingly, that the receipts and expenditures of the defendant in connection with the premises, were as stated above, and applied the balance due from the defendant—$2,042 74—upon said decree, discharging the defendant from all liability to the plaintiffs therefor and directed that execution issue for the balance of the decree—$13 200 06—from which order the plaintiffs appealed and said appeal is now pending in the supreme court of the state

On August 10 1878, the premises were sold on the alias execution to said Francis for the amount of said decree, and on October 13 following said sale was confirmed

The plaintiff, Ruth A, claims title to the premises from the United States under § 4 of the donation act of September 27 1850, as the child of Nancy Lownsdale the wife of Daniel H. Lownsdale, a settler upon the premises under said section. The patent for the donation issued to said Daniel H and Nancy on June 6 1865—the latter having died in 1854 and the former in 1862, both intestate Under the circumstances the patent inured to the benefit of the parties who were entitled to take the donation upon such a contingency of which the plaintiff Ruth A was one See Fields v Squires 1 Deady 367 Lamb v. Starr Id 452, Lamb v Wakefield 1 Saw, 253, Davenport v Lamb, 13 Wall, 427 Afterwards on August 12 1865 in a suit for partition of the west half of said donation the same being the part thereof designated by the surveyor general as inuring to said Nancy, the circuit court for the county of Multnomah set apart the premises in question in severalty to the said Ruth A See Fields v Squires supra 391 Lamb v Starr supra 450-55

Some question was made upon the admission of the evidence by the defendant as to the title of Ruth A and therefore this statement of the grounds of it But I apprehend the point is not seriously relied on Indeed a sufficient answer to it is found in the fact that the defendant claims under her and therefore is not at liberty to question her title subject to the mortgage and sale thereunder upon the alias execution – Green Ev 304 307 Gaines v New Orleans 6 Wall [illegible]

Upon this state of facts the plea of a former adjudication hasn't a leg to stand on The proceeding before the circuit court in which it was attempted to apply the rent due from the defendant to the plaintiff [illegible] upon its decree against Eugene Semple was neither an action nor a suit but a [illegible] to correct an error in the proceeding [illegible] force such decree—to set aside the return of the officer upon the execution and the [illegible] of satisfaction in the lien docket made in pursuance thereof—because as it turned out the supposed sale of the premises to the defendant was no sale for want of capacity in it to purchase the same or receive the title thereto The power of the court to make the order asked for is not questioned and the subject and the parties were properly before it upon this motion

But all that was done after this appears to have been done by the court—sua sponte—without either allegations or proofs upon the part of the defendant except this motion and the statement of the account for the occupation of the property by its manager and none whatever on the part of the plaintiffs It seems to me that the court might as well have attempted to settle or adjust any other account or controversy between these parties upon that motion as this matter of the rent due the plaintiff Ruth A from the defendant for the use of her property

It is a fundamental rule of law that a party is not bound or estopped by the judgment of a court as to a matter point or fact not within the purview of the proceeding before it or directly put in issue therein

In Woodgate v Fleet 44 N Y 13 it is laid down that "A judgment is conclusive upon the parties thereto only in respect to the grounds covered by it and the law and facts necessary to uphold it and although a decree in express terms purports to affirm a particular fact or rule of law yet if such fact or rule of law was immaterial to the issue and the controversy did not turn upon it, the decree will not conclude the parties in reference thereto To the same effect are The People v Johnson 38 N Y 63 Gilbert v Thompson 9 Cush [illegible] Mass [illegible] Manny v Harris John 29 Banks v Moreno 39 Cal 238 Layton v Hanlow 20 Cal [illegible] Freeman on Jud [illegible]

If this rent had been due Eugene Semple the debtor in the decree and he had in reply to the motion for leave to sue an alias execution answered and asked that the rent received by the defendant while a mortgagee in possession subsequent to the rendition of the decree might be applied thereon and that execution issue only for the balance there would have been some show of legality and justice in the proceeding But as it was the plaintiff made no claim or demand in regard to the rent unless it was to assert—arguendo—that it did not belong to Eugene Semple and therefore could not be applied upon his debt

The application of the defendant although it stated the irrelevant fact that the rental value of the property during the time it was in its possession was less than the accruing interest on the decree asked for nothing more than leave to issue an alias execution because the proceedings on the first were found nugatory

The plaintiffs made no other answer to the application than to ask to have it stricken from the files, which being denied the prayer of the motion was allowed of course but all that followed in regard to the application of the rent due the plaintiff Ruth A upon the debt of Eugene Semple was done without any procedure to base it upon and rests upon nothing but the will of the court It was not necessary to give the desired relief to the defendant that any action should have been taken in regard to this rent When an execution was allowed to enforce the decree the defendant could ask no more The money received for the rent of the property was already in its possession If the plaintiff, Ruth A, desired to reclaim it or recover the value of the use and possession of the premises she could not be compelled to litigate the matter upon exparte affidavits on the defendant's motion for an alias execution, but she had a right to bring an action against the defendant therefor when and where she chose and the law permitted in which the questions of what was the value of the use and occupation of the premises and was the defendant a mortgagee in possession with her consent and therefore entitled to apply the rents and profits during such possession on its debt, could, upon proper pleadings and proofs be formally tried with a court and jury The proceeding and order in this respect were clearly coram non judice

On the other hand the extra-judicial character of this order is only equaled by its injustice To fully appreciate this, it is necessary to premise, that in this state the equitable doctrine prevails—that a mortgagee has no interest in the mortgaged property and no right to the possession thereof—that the mortgage is a mere security for the debt and the right of the mortgagor is limited to a sale of the property and the application of the proceeds upon his debt (Anderson v Baxter 4 Or 110, Roberts v Sutherlin, Id. 222 Wetherell v. Wiberg, 4 Saw 234

The plaintiff, Ruth A, never owed the defendant anything nor promised to pay it anything No decree was recovered against her for the debt due the defendant, as stated in the affidavit of the manager, and if there had been, it would have been void She did not join in the note of her husband, but simply mortgaged her property as a security for the payment of the same, and the only right that gave the defendant as against her was the right to have the property sold to satisfy the debt upon the decree of a proper court In the meantime and until that was lawfully accomplished, the property was hers and she had the same right to the occupation and enjoyment of it as if it had never been mortgaged

True, she might, with her husband's consent, agree that the defendant might enter into possession and apply the rents and profits upon the debt for which the property was a security. But the defendant could not enter upon the premises as such mortgagee and take the rents and profits without such consent—and this must appear and be shown by the defendant by some matter independent of and collateral to the mortgage (4 Saw supra, 240)

In this case the defendant having attempted to dispose of this property by a judicial sale failed to do so because it attempted to purchase the same when by law it was prohibited from doing business in this state. But the plaintiff, Ruth A was not a party to this unlawful act, and was not affected by it The property remained hers, just as though there had been no attempt to sell Yet the defendant wrongfully assuming that it had become the owner of the premises entered thereon and took the rents and profits as its own In its order the circuit court says that the defendant was in possession of said premises as the "mortgagee" of the plaintiffs If by this, it was meant to declare that the defendant was in possession by virtue of the mortgage or with the consent of such plaintiffs or either of them, then it is a manifest error, because in the affidavit aforesaid of the manager which is the only evidence that appears to have been before the court, it is distinctly asserted that the defendant "took possession of said property under said sale and conveyance" and has retained possession ever since—meaning thereby, said void sale and conveyance of July 18, 1874 and May 20 1875 respectively

Upon this statement of the case, which is the most that can be said for the defendant it did not enter as mortgagee at all It entered without the consent of the mortgagors, but as owner upon the assumption that it had purchased the property but in fact without any right and as a trespasser It became liable then to the true owner, Ruth A Semple for the use and occupation of the premises as any other trespasser would be until the subsequent valid sale upon the alias execution The amount due for such occupation was due her and not her husband It was her separate property and in no way liable for his debts or contracts She was under no obligation either legal or moral to pay her husband's debt True she had pledged certain property for that purpose, but this did not include the use and occupation thereof, which belonged to her, until her title was divested by a valid sale in pursuance of the mortgage

It only remains to ascertain what the value of the premises was during the period The defendant admits that it actually received $4 297 50 rent from the property exclusive of commissions to agents But the proof is that the property was worth $100 per month

At this rate from July 18 1874 to May 1 1878 when the defendant ceased to receive the rent on one fourth of the property the rent would amount to $4 550 and from thence to August 8 1878, the date when the property was purchased by the manager the rent at the same rate for the remaining three fourths would amount to $250 Interest upon this sum—$4 800 at ten per cent per annum counting from the end of the year in which the rent accrued is $600 which added to the principal makes the sum $5 400

From this must be deducted the amount expended during the period by the defendant for legal taxes and necessary repairs [illegible] the gross rents [illegible] damage which the plaintiff [illegible] sustained by the loss of the possession [illegible] Saw [illegible]

The amount paid for taxes and repairs was $1 [illegible] to which add [illegible] interest on the same and the sum is $1 [illegible] leaving a balance due the plaintiff of $[illegible]

The defendant also claims to deduct from this sum the amount paid for insurance—$530 50 But this expense was not incurred for the benefit of the property but the defendant. Insurance does not protect property from fire and it is said sometimes enhances the exposure thereto

This sum was expended by the defendant in its own interest to indemnify itself against a loss of its security by fire and did not nor does not meliorate or improve the condition of the property

There must be a finding for the plaintiff for the sum of $[illegible]

H Y Thompson and [illegible] for the plaintiff

Walter H Page and Joseph N Dolph for the defendant

The bad weather which has prevailed [illegible] has in some degree retarded outdoor business and trade in every department of finance and trade as far as we have been able to ascertain [illegible] have been [illegible] changes in the monetary situation the available supply of funds being ample to meet the current demand which is never great at this time of the year and this season is lighter than usual

The importing houses in this city are now receiving their spring stocks and each steamer from below brings large quantities of dry goods, staple groceries, boots shoes hardware and agricultural implements and machinery Prices in the east have been so low and such stocks accumulated in the principal manufacturing centers at the east that wholesale houses which buy directly from first hands will be able to supply dealers at more favorable rates than ever before with many leading articles and commodities

There are no material changes in the market for domestic products buyers handling all commodities for which they have not orders already at hand with a good deal of caution Dealers in breadstuffs seem as little inclined to purchase beyond their present necessities as holders are to sell and so with an apathy on both sides supplies being light on account of exceedingly bad roads in this valley and obstructions to navigation in Eastern Oregon and from Walla Walla, there is but little to report in the way of actual transactions As high as $1 6[illegible] might be realized for a choice lot of wheat but the current quotations is $1 65 per cental Bacon has stiffened up somewhat during the past few days and those who have accumulated considerable stocks are encouraged to hope for a revival of the demand and for prices more remunerative than have been obtainable for a few months past
